Candidates should bring with them to the examination hall, each day of the examination, their hall tickets for inspection by the Chief Superintendent.

3. Candidates are prohibited from writing upon their hall tickets or question papers. Candidates are also prohibited from writing their names on any part of their answer books, but their register numbers should be written very distinctly on the outer cover of such. Failure to write their register numbers may involve the rejection of answer papers.

4. Candidates are not allowed to attend the examination at such paper.

THEY ARE ALSO PROHIBITED FROM DISSEMINATING INTO THE EXAMINATION ROOM ANY BOOK OR PORTION OF A BOOK, SLATS, MANUSCRIPT OR PAPER BY ANY MEANS, OR FROM COMMUNICATING WITH OR CONFERRING WITH EACH OTHER, AND FROM COMMUNICATING WITH ANY PERSON OUTSIDE THE EXAMINATION ROOM. BILL No. 11 OF 1932.

A BILL to amend the Madras Impartible Estates Act II of 1904 for certain purposes, namely, to declare the right of junior members and others of the family of the holder of impartible estates to maintenance out of the impartible estates and the income thereof without proof of any special custom.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the Madras Impartible Estates Act, 1904, for the purposes herein appearing.

1. This Act may be called the Madras Impartible Estates (Amendment) Act, 1932.

IT 1.

2 The following shall be added as sections 9 to 12 of the Act:—

"9. The following persons shall have the right to provision for maintenance and residence without proof of any special custom out of an impartible estate and the income thereof:—

(1) All persons who are co-owners of the holders of an impartible estate for purposes of succession.

(2) Those who are entitled to claim maintenance from such persons or out of joint family property in their hands.

(3) The illegitimate sons of the co-owners of the holder of an impartible estate and the legitimate sons of such illegitimate sons for three generations provided that nothing herein contained shall affect the rights of such illegitimate sons or their descendants under the ordinary Hindu Law.

(4) The daughters both legitimate and illegitimate of the holders of impartible estates and of other persons who are treated as the co-owners of such holders of impartible estate until marriage or until death if they remain unmarried.

10. The quantum of maintenance shall be determined with reference to the net income of the impartible estate and other circumstances as in the case of ordinary joint property of a Hindu family governed by the Mitakshara.

11. Notwithstanding anything contained hereinbefore it shall be lawful for the proprietor of an impartible estate for the time being to allot in perpetuity or for life or lives of maintenance holders the income of any portion of an impartible estate and any building for their residence provided that it shall be open to his successor to sue maintenance holders for modification or revocation of such allotment on the ground that it is excessive or unjustifiable.

12. The award of maintenance may be declared a charge upon any portion of an impartible estate or the income thereof."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

1. Impartible estates of Southern India came in for judicial decision from almost the beginning of the last century in regard to succession, maintenance of junior members, alienation and liability for debts contracted by the holders of the estates for the time being. As observed by their Lordships of the Privy Council in 22 Madras 383 (the first Pittampan case) at page 337 after a review of all the previous rulings prior to 1869, there was a series of decisions in the Madras Courts beginning in 1822 which held that an impartible estate was joint family property and could not be alienated by the holder of the estate for the time being except for purposes binding upon the joint family. In 19 Allahabad 272 their Lordships of the Privy Council held that an impartible estate is not coparcenary property and is at the absolute disposal of the holder of the estate; this ruling was followed by the Madras High Court on 15 Madras 197 decided in 1889. Unanimously in 23 Madras 383 the Privy Council followed their own decision in 10 Allahabad 272 and upheld the bequest of the Pittapur estate and refused to follow the long series of decisions of the Madras High Court prior to 1889 which they found to be based upon varying grounds. Thus the Madras Impartible Estates Act, 1905, was passed. It was continued by the Madras Impartible Estates Act, 1907. Finally the Madras Impartible Estates Act II of 1931 was passed. It repealed the two prior Acts and declared impartible estates inalienable except for purposes binding upon the manager of a joint Hindu family governed by the Mitakshara Law, such manager not being the father or the grandfather. The personal debts of the holder of an impartible estate are not binding upon his successor or upon the estate in his hands. It is clear that the statute, with a view to the preservation of the estates in the family of the holders thereof, placed greater restrictions upon alienation than the ordinary Hindu law which governs partible property in Southern India, inasmuch as the statute does not recognize the pious duty of a Hindu son or grandson to pay the debts of his father or grandfather, even though such debts are not tainted by immorality or illegality and renders the holder of the estate incapable of alienating the estate or any portion thereof, so as to bind his son or grandson who may happen to succeed to the impartible estate.

2. Impartible estates being so declared inalienable under the Impartible Estates Act, owners of estates which were not considered impartible, subsequently applied for, and succeeded in, including their estates in the schedule attached to the Impartible Estates Act by legislation.

3. For purposes of succession impartible estates are held to be coparcenary property of the members of the family of the holder of the impartible estate for the time being:

(i) 48 I.A., 126; 43 A.L., 238; 1921 P.C., 65.

(ii) 55 I.A., 114; 51 Mad., 139 (P.C.); 1928 P.C., 68; 54 M.L.J., 504.

But with regard to maintenance of junior members of the family of the holder of an impartible estate, it was held by the Privy Council in 41 Mad. 778 (P.C.)—the second Pittapur case—that in the absence of special customs the grandson of a deceased ancestor is not entitled to maintenance out of the impartible estate in the hands of the successor and that the right of the son to maintenance out of an impartible estate has been so often recognised that it is not necessary to such case to prove the custom. The decision of their Lordships reported in 41 Mad., 778 was delivered in 1916. In this case their Lordships refused to follow the view previously taken in the Madras Courts that there was joint ownership in the impartible estate which only fell short of coparcenary, because by custom there was no right to partition; 41 Mad., 778 was followed in 37 M.L.J., 126 (P.C.) by the Privy Council even though in the written statement of the holder of the impartible estate, the right of the plaintiff, a junior member to maintenance under the law as it was then understood was not denied, a special family custom for exclusion of plaintiff's right to maintenance being set up which however could not be established.

4. In 1904, when the Impartible Estates Act was finally passed the right of junior members to maintenance was not denied. Apparently, therefore, no provision was made in the Act as to the maintenance of junior members or others out of an impartible estate. It is therefore necessary that their right to maintenance out of an impartible estate should be declared by statute and should not be made dependent upon proof of special custom which in most cases would be almost impossible for each person to prove because of the heavy expenditure it involves, apart from other difficulties.

5. The Impartible Estates Act is the result of an attempt to annul the effect of the ruling reported in 33 Mad., 383 P.D. (the first Pillayar case) and to restore the law as it stood previously. It is necessary to annul the effect of the ruling reported in 41 Mad., 778 (P.C.) and of other rulings which followed it and to restore the law as it was understood in Madras prior to 41 Mad., 778.

6. It is but just that junior members of the family of the holder of an impartible estate who are for purposes of succession coparceners of the latter and who are entitled to succeed to the impartible estate in the exclusion of the widow and daughters of the holder of the impartible estate who dies without male issue and who cannot sue for partition because of the custom of the impartibility of the estate should have the right to maintenance and that such right should also be extended to their widows, illegitimate sons and unmarried daughters.

7. It is but just that illegitimate sons of the holders of impartible estates as well as the legitimate sons of such illegitimate sons should be maintained as is customary out of the impartible estate not only when the estate is in the hands of the partition father but also when it is in the hands of his successors.

8. As regards widows of the holders of an impartible estate there can be no dispute that they have to be maintained out of the impartible estate by their sons and grandsons as well as by other co-partners who succeed to the estate under the law of succession now in force which treats an impartible estate as co-ownership property. On principle such right of maintenance should be extended to the widows of the junior members also.

9. As regards daughters, both legitimate and illegitimate, the ordinary custom is to maintain them until they are married at the expense of the family. To obviate proof of such custom, it is desirable that it should receive statutory recognition. It is a necessary corollary that such daughters should be maintained, if they remain unmarried all through life.

LIST OF VILLAGES.

Seri villages.		Mothur and Agastharam.
1. Kapileswarapuram.		4. Ramachandrapuram.
2. Ithirakada.		5. Duggumilli, one-sixth share.
3. Narval, one-sixth share, exclusive of gardens and Palace buildings with their compound.		6. Pinnamreddipalli.
		7. Manillapalli.
		8. Sorepalli, one-sixth share.
		9. Vattigodipadu.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

Sri Raja M. Srinivasa Appa Row Bahadur Gura, the Zamindar of Kapileswarapuram Estate, is one of the direct lineal descendants of the ancient rulers of Narval. He owns the Kapileswarapuram Estate.

The properties noted in the schedule annexed to the Bill, forming part of the present Kapileswarapuram Estate are proposed to be made inalienable. They are part and parcel of the ancient Narval Zamindari which was dismembered in consequence of the decision of the Privy Council in L.R., 2 Madras, 123, by which the said Zamindari was declared partitionable. The original rulers of Narval, though feudal chiefs in name, exercised almost complete sway over their territory. As regards the nature and character of the Narval Estate both the District Court of Madras as well as the High Court of Madras definitely found that the Narval Zamindari was ancient and inalienable, succession in which was governed by the custom and law of primogeniture with the incidents of feudal or military tenure attached thereto. Even their Lordships of the Privy Council, who declared it partitionable mainly on the ground that its character was altered when it was divided into two estates, though this division was effected not by the parties themselves but as a matter of State policy, and by the direct intervention of the State and under its orders held that the estate was inalienable, inalienable and feudal in character until the time of the permanent settlement.

The Kapileswarapuram Estate which is now registered in the name of its present owner Sri Raja M. Srinivasa Appa Row Bahadur Gura fetches him an income of over Rs. 47,000 per year and he is the sole owner of the estate. He has expressed his desire and intention that a major share of this estate should be held as impartible and inalienable estate governed by the law of primogeniture and that it should not be diminished so that the family custom, dignity and estate should be upheld in his line.

The said Sri Raja M. Srinivasa Appa Row Babashur Gura has at present two minor sons. He has expressed his desire and intention to split up the estate into two shares, one consisting of a major share with the income of Rs. 50,000 and the other with an income of over Rs. 17,000 and that the former which consists of the properties specified in the schedule annexed to the Bill should be held as impartible and inalienable estate.

The other portion of the estate is to be retained as a separate and partible estate. This and several other names of properties which the present Zamindar owns will make an ample provision for his second son and any male issue which he may have in future. It may here be pointed out that when the Zamindari of Doddapanasikote was made impartible by Act II of 1918 the Zamindar had two sons. The Zamindari of Mirasapuram and Elamurra Estates which were also made impartible by Acts VIII of 1929 and IX of 1929 respectively had also two sons each when their estates were made impartible. These two estates, Mirasapuram and Elamurra, and Yerrur Estates which was also made impartible by Act II of 1918 also form part of the Narva Zamindari and on each stand exactly on the same footing as the Kapileswarasapuram Estate.

As there are no legal impediments in the way of a legislative declaration as desired and as the present case falls within the principles underlying the enactment of the Madras Act II of 1904, it is desirable that the Kapileswarasapuram Estate consisting of the properties specified in the schedule annexed to the Bill should be included in Annexure I of the Schedule to the Madras Impartible Estates Act II of 1904.

BILL No. 14 OF 1932.

THE MANGAVARAM, ANAKAPALLE AND NAKKAPALLE
IMPARTIBLE ESTATES BILL.

A Bill to declare the Mangavaram, Anakapalle and Nakkapalle Estates to be impartible within the meaning of the Madras Impartible Estates Act, 1904.

Enacted, WHEREAS it is expedient to declare that the Mangavaram, Anakapalle and Nakkapalle Estates are impartible and their Proprietors cannot exercise unrestricted powers of alienation in respect thereof; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

1. This Act may be called the Mangavaram, Anakapalle and Nakkapalle Impartible Estates Act, 1932.

2. Notwithstanding any decision of Court, rule of law, or custom to the contrary, the Mangavaram, Anakapalle and Nakkapalle Estates in the Vengalpetam district are hereby declared to be impartible within the meaning of the Madras Impartible Estates Act II of 1904 and shall in the lands of their present owner as well as his heirs and successors, be subject to the provisions of that Act.

3. This Act shall not affect any alienation made or debt incurred before the commencement of this Act.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

Sri Raja Vyncherla Narayana Gajapati Raja Bahadur, the Zamindar of the Mangavaram, Anakapalle and Nakkapalle and other estates, is the grandson of the late Maheswji Sir G. N. Gajapati Rao Bahadur Garu, M.C.S., a descendant of the ancient and aristocratic family of Sri Uda Jagappa. Debent to the Chiefs in Council. The present Zamindar succeeded to the estate in 1908 and is now in sole and absolute possession and enjoyment of the same. He is the second son of the late Raja of Kuruppet which is an impartible estate governed by the custom and law of primogeniture. He owns in addition to the estates now sought to be made impartible other estates of which one, Humma Estate in the Onjann district is impartible.

Mangavaram, Anakapalle and Nakkapalle Estates were purchased by the ancestors of the late Maheswji Sir G. N. Gajapati Rao Bahadur, M.C.S., between the years 1830 and 1835 and have ever since been in the family. These estates originally formed part of the neighbouring ancient zamindari, the descendants of the families holding which were governed by the custom and the law of primogeniture. These estates yield an annual income of Rs. 2,75,000 paying a peshkash and land tax of Rs. 1,18,000 to the Government.

The said Sri Raja Vyiricharla Narayana Gajapati Raja Bahadur who is the sole and absolute owner of the said estates of Mangaranna, Anakapalle and Nakkapalle desires that they should be held as an impartible and indivisible estate governed by the law of primogeniture and that they should not be divided, so that the family custom, dignity and status should be upheld in his line.

The said Sri Raja Vyiricharla Narayana Gajapati Raja Bahadur has at present no male issue and has only two daughters. He has other estates and property. As there is no legal impediment in the way of legislative declaration and as the present case falls within the principles underlying the enactment of the Madras Act II of 1904, it is desirable that the estates should be included in the Assurance I to the Schedule to the Impartible Estates Act II of 1906.

The schedule below contains a list of villages of the Mangaranna, Anakapalle and Nakkapalle Estates
